It was among the list of information that we requested from PLP but we have not received anything. We don't expect to get anything in a timely way.

Hi all,

last Friday I talked with Davin Holen from ADF&G Subsistence Division about potential data sources on the costs of subsistence in the Bristol Bay Region. The only source he mentioned was the extensive interviews Steven Braund did for the Pebble Partnership, but the data is not publicly available. .

Phil, did EPA ever receive this data / specifically request it? If so, when can we expect to be able to work with it?

ADF&G also offered us to include a page of questions into their next survey (happening this winter), a subsistence census of about four communities in the Bristol Bay region.
